

What can I do? – Role play 2

Rose is your classmate and friend. She is kind and good fun and you often invite her to your house.

Recently, some of the other students in your class have been unkind to her. They refuse to play with her and sometimes don't want to sit near her in class. They call her names and say that she hasn't got a proper family because she has two mothers. She is often in tears because of the teasing.

Now some of your other friends have started to tease you because you are Rose's friend and you visit each other's homes. You really like Rose and want to remain friends with her, but you don't like being teased.

What should you do?
