

What can I do? – Role play 3

Philip, who is in your class, suffers from eczema. This means that he often has a dry, red rash on much of his body, especially his hands. It is itchy and uncomfortable.

Often, Philip is not included in games and students complain if they are asked to hold hands with him. In the playground, when teachers can't hear, some students call him names and say that you'll get germs from him.

You know this is unkind and unfair.

What should you do?
